Withdrawal of the Entire Slavic Army Accomplished, But Germans Move Upon Dvinsk.

110,000 FRESH TROOPS SENT TO AID ALLIES ON THE DARDANELLES

Twenty-eight Classes of Bulgarians Called Out and Great Excitement Prevails in Greece—Snow Hampers Austro Italian Troops—Turks Short of Munitions, and 2000 Men Leave Krupp Plant Because Raw Material Is Short—Progress Made By Teutonic Forces.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, September 23.—(Buletin)—A new army of 110,000 men has been sent to assist the allies at the Dardanelles, says an Over Seas News Agency dispatch.

Petrograd, September 23.—The Russian military authorities regard the withdrawal from the very difficult positions near Vilna, which for a time seriously menaced a large army, as virtually completed. They assert the Germans have lost 250,000 men in their recent operations in this region.

London, September 23.—The strongly fortified Russian city of Dvinsk, on the Dvina, 110 miles southeast of Riga, has become the new German objective, now that the Russian armies apparently have escaped from the Vilna net.

The German forces east and south-east of Lida are now making more rapid progress, but their increased speed at this time is expected to gain them little, in view of the fact that the safe retreat of the greater part of the Russian forces now seems to be assured.

The chief success of the Germans in the last day or two has been along the Dvina front, which bars the road to Petrograd.

Southwest of Dvinsk, the invaders captured Russian trenches on a front of nearly two miles taking 2000 prisoners and eight machine guns.

For the time being, the domestic situation in Russia is quiet. The strike in protest at the prorogation of the Duma may be revived, however, if the government persists in its opposition to the movement in favor of reassembling parliament and permitting the formation of a new cabinet.

Along the western front the French report destruction of a German patrol in Champagne. Berlin states that the patrol was withdrawn after destroying French works.

Mobilization of Bulgarian forces continues to excite keen interest, but the belligerent, as well as the neutral world, seems to be in the dark as to the purpose which dictated this movement.

London, September 23.—Recent reports that Turkish supplies were running short are reiterated in private reports, brought to Switzerland from Constantinople.

It is declared that because of the lack of raw materials, 2000 workmen from the Krupp plant in Germany are idle in the Ottoman capital.

Berlin, September 23.—The new German offensive movement, with its object the capture of the important Russian fortified city of Dvinsk, has made definite progress.

The War Office announced today that the Russian advance positions west of the city had been penetrated, and that more than 2,000 prisoners and several machine guns had been captured.

Athens, September 23.—Up to midnight on Wednesday, twenty-eight classes of troops had been included in the Bulgarian mobilization order.

This news caused great excitement in Athens.

London, September 23.—Reports from the Italian front are that snows already are rendering operations of the Italians and Austrians in the mountain districts increasingly difficult.

FORD TAKES TRIP ON SUB.

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer, took a trip in one of the submarines at the New York navy yard today, in furtherance of his promised attempt to perfect a gasoline motor for use in such craft.

He was insistent that an efficient undersea craft could be built at one-sixteenth the cost of the present vessels.

When asked how many of them he would suggest building, he replied: "none."

FINANCIERS SAY NO FRICTION

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Members of the Anglo-French financial commission today issued a statement denying reports current in Wall Street that there had been friction between financiers and its members.

An official statement concerning the progress of negotiations was not expected today for another week.

PROBING CAVE-IN

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Five official investigations of the cave-in yesterday of the new subway under construction in Seventh Avenue, in which seven persons were killed and about 86 injured, were in progress today.

The accident was still attributed to a collapse of the wooden street surface, as the result of a dynamite blast.

At least five miles of Manhattan's thoroughfares, including some of the avenues carrying heavy traffic, are underpinned by subway construction.

Engineers fear a repetition of the accident, possibly under Broadway, which is more crowded with traffic than was Seventh Avenue at the time of the cave-in.

Four of the subway workmen were still missing today, and it was feared that their bodies were buried under the debris.

BODY OF GIRL FOUND IN LAKE

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, September 23.—The body of Miss Jennie Davis, 28, was found floating in Shaker Lake today by Robert T. Hattwick, caretaker of the Shaker Lake Canoe Club.

Police believe the woman was murdered by being thrown into the lake after an attack.

Miss Davis had been missing since Sunday evening, when she left home saying she had arranged to meet a man friend and spend the evening with him.

The body was fully clothed when found, and there were no marks visible on it.

The man whom the girl planned to meet has been found, and says he did not keep his engagement with her.

The lake is surrounded by a lonely patch of woods, through which the girl must have passed and in which it is believed the attack was made.

FASTENED IN HOMES, SEVEN CHILDREN DIE

By Associated Press.

Dayton, O., September 23.—Three children, aged 1, 4 and 7 years, of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Szencsoik, suffocated today, when the house in which their mother locked them caught fire, the police say, because the children were playing with matches. A fourth child escaped death.

Large, Pa., September 23.—Trapped by flames, which enveloped their home while their mother was calling on a neighbor, four children of Daniel Kish were burned to death here today.

The bodies of the children, who ranged in age from 2 to 6 years, were found near the beds from which they had been roused by the fire.

CAPSIZED IN THAMES RIVER

London, September 23.—The Dutch steamer Koningen Emma, of 9,000 tons, which struck a mine as she was on her way to Amsterdam from Batavia, Java, capsized and sank in the Thames today.

The 250 passengers had been taken off the Koningen Emma which was being towed up the river when she sank.

GERMANY AGREES TO PAY FRYE INDEMNITY

Note to U. S. Government Very Friendly and Germany Agrees Not to Destroy American Merchantmen Under Any Circumstances Unless Cargo Is Wholly Contraband—Complete Satisfaction to Be Accorded the United States.

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 23.—Germany, in its latest note in the Frye case, made public today, notified the United States that orders have been issued "the German naval forces, not to destroy American merchantmen which have loaded conditional contraband, even when the conditions of international law are present; but to permit them to continue their voyage unhindered if it is not possible to take them into port."

Germany gave this assurance "in order to furnish to the American government evidence of its conciliatory attitude" while the question of interpreting the treaty of 1828 is submitted to arbitration.

The American suggestion for the naming of experts to fix the indemnity for sinking the Frye is accepted.

As for absolute contraband, such as arms and ammunition, Germany states in its note that "it must reserve to itself the right to destroy vessels carrying absolute contraband wherever such destruction is permissible, according to the provisions of the Declaration of London."

The German note is regarded by officials as evidencing a more friendly spirit on the part of the German Foreign Office.

Following months of strained relations between the two countries, it was received as a very favorable development.

It practically insures American vessels against attack without warning, and even in the event that they are carrying absolute contraband, passengers and crew are bound, according to the Declaration of London, to be removed before there is any destruction, which also can occur only in the event of extreme necessity.

'TIS NICE TO BE A SOLON

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, September 23.—The legislators, state officials and their wives, who are attending the legislative reunion, started on a special train early today for Chattanooga, Tenn., over the Cincinnati Southern Railway, which is managed by the city of Cincinnati.

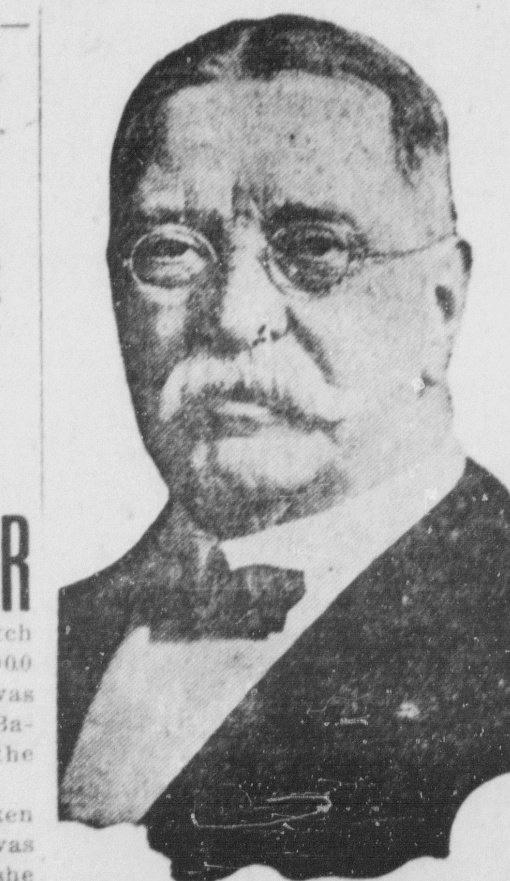

Tomorrow they will go to the Chickamauga battlefields and to Lookout Mountain. They will return Saturday.

SMALL STEAMERS ARE BLOWN UP

London, September 23.—The British steamer Groningen, of 900 tons, and the Norwegian steamer Forsvik, of 1,100 tons, have been blown up. One member of the Groningen's crew was killed and several injured. The Forsvik's men escaped harm.

GRAFTER ARRESTED

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, September 23.—A man arrested here today under the name of Tom Bailey is declared by the police to be Robert Strang, wanted in Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio, for insurance and surety bond frauds amounting to more than $10,000.

Strang's wife, who is supposed to be in Youngstown, O., is said to have collected it on representing that Strang had been drowned in the Ohio river, at Cincinnati last May.

Police say Strang was a professional diver and stayed under water so long that a companion, who had been with him when he fell from a boat, thought he was drowned.

Extradition papers have been requested by Cincinnati police for Strang's return.

PRESIDENT IS UNDECIDED

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 23.—President Wilson still is undecided whether to call a special session of the Senate next month to consider pending treaties and revision of the Senate rules.

Some officials think he may decide to call the special session, but others advise to the contrary.

UNION OR NO UNION FOR MEN

By Associated Press.

House, Colorado, September 23.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today stated that the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. does not care whether its miners belong to a union or not.

The statement was made in a conference between Mr. Rockefeller, David Griffiths, grievance mediator of the company, and C. A. Mitchell, grievance representative of the Rouse miners.

Mitchell is a negro.

Famous Author Describes How the Psychology of France Is Altered By War—Shell Battered Cathedral Altar of Invaders to Commemorate Their Death.

NOTE—The first installment of the Second Series of Articles from the pen on Rudyard Kipling, is presented below. Watch this page for next installment.

By RUDYARD KIPLING.

[Copyright, 1915, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.]

WE left that stricken but undefeated town, dodged a few miles down roads beside which women tended their cows and dropped into place on a hill where a Moroccan regiment of many experiences was billeted.

They were Mohammedans badlingly like a half dozen of our Indian frontier types. Though they spoke no accessible tongue they had, of course, turned farm buildings where they lay into a little bit of Africa in color and in smell. They had been gassed in Flanders, shot down and shot up and set up to be shelled again, and their officers talked of north African wars that we had never heard of, sultry days against long odds in the desert, years ago.

"Afterward, is it not so with you also? We get our best recruits from the troops we have fought. These men are children. They make no trouble. They only want to go where cartridges are burned. They are of the few races to whom fighting is a pleasure."

"And how long have you dealt with them?"

"A long time, a long time. I helped organize corps. I am one of those whose hearts are in Africa."

He spoke slowly, almost feeling for his French words, and gave some of them an order I shall not forget. Nor shall I forget his eyes as he turned to a huge brown Afredee, like a Mussulman, hunkering down beside his accouterments. He had two sides to his head, that bearded, burned, slow spoken officer we met and parted with all in an hour.

Petrol Flavors Twilight.

The day closed after an amazing interlude in the chateau of a dream which was all glassy ponds, stately trees and vistas of white and gold salons. The proprietor was somebody's chauffeur at the front. We drank his health in the little village, in twilight, full of petrol, hundreds of cars and the wholesale flavor of healthy troops. There is no better guide to camp than one's own thoughtful nose, and, though I poked mine everywhere, in no place did it strike that vile, betraying taint of underfed, unclean men and gun horses.

It is difficult to keep one's edge after hours of fresh air and experience. One does not get the most from the most interesting part of the day—dinner with the local headquarters. Here the professionals meet, the line gunners, the intelligence, with stupefying photo-plans of the enemy's trenches, the supply, the staff who collect and note all things and are very properly chaffed and, to be sure, the interpreter, who by force of questioning prisoners naturally develops into a Sadducee.

It is their little aside to each other, the slang and half words, which, if one but understood, instead of blabbing drowsily at one's plate, would give a day's history. But the tiredness and the difficulties of a sister, not a foreign, tongue dims everything, and one goes to bed amid the murmur of voices, the rush of single cars through the night, the passage of battalions and behind all the echo of deep voices calling one to the other along a line that never sleeps.

Batteries In Hiding.

A long ridge with scattered pines. It might have hidden children at play. Certainly a horse would have been quite visible. But there was no hint of guns, except a semaphore which announced that it was forbidden to pass that way as a battery was firing. The boches must have looked for that battery too. The ground was pitted with shell holes of all calibers, some of them as fresh as mole casts in the misty, damp morning, others where poppies had grown from seed to flower all through the summer.

"And where are the guns?" I demanded at last. They were almost under one's hand, their ammunition in cellars and dugouts beside them.

And, as far as I could make out, the 75 millimeter gun has no pet name. The bayonet, of course, is Rosalie, virgin of Bayonne, but the 75, the watchful nurse of the trenches and the little sister of the line, seems to be always the Soixante-Quinze. But even those who love her best do not say that she is beautiful. Her merits are French logic, directness, simplicity and the supreme gift of occasionality. She is equal to everything on the spur of the moment. One sees and studies the few appliances which make her do what she does, and one feels that any one could have invented her.

"As a matter of fact," says a commandant, "anybody, or, rather, everybody, did. The recoil is after such and such a system, patent of which had expired, and we improved it. The breech action, with slight modification is somebody else's; the lighting is perhaps a little special, and so is the traversing, but at bottom it is only an assembly of variations and arrangements."

Guns Result of Collaboration.

That, of course, is all Shakespeare ever got out of the alphabet. French artillerymen make their own guns, as he made his plays. It is just as simple as that.

"There is nothing going on for a moment," said the commandant. "It is too misty. I fancy that the boches, being of all things methodical, introduce the amateurs to the batteries in the intervals. At least there are hours, healthy and unhealthy, which vary with each position. But," the commandant reflected, "there, let us say, is a place and a distance."

He gave a range. The gun servers stood back with the bored contempt of the professional for the layman who intrudes on his mysteries. Other civilians had come that way before, had seen and grinned and complimented and gone their way, leaving the gunner high up on the back of the bleak hillside to grill or mildew or freeze for weeks and months.

Then she spoke. Her voice was higher pitched, it seemed, than ours, with a more shrewish tang to the speeding shell. Her recoil was as swift and as graceful as the shrug of a Frenchman's shoulders. The empty case leaped forth and clanged against the trail, the tops of two or three pines fifty yards away nodded knowingly to each other, though there was no wind.

"They'll be bothered down below to know the meaning of our single shot. We don't give them one dose at a time as a rule."

Somebody laughed. We waited in the fragrant silence. Nothing came back from the mist over that clogged lower ground, though no shell of this war was ever launched with more earnest prayers that it may do harm.

French Psychology Changed.

They talked about the lives of guns, what number of rounds some will stand and others will not, how one can make two good guns out of three spoiled ones and what crazy luck sometimes goes with a single shot or a blind salvo. A shell must fall somewhere and by the law of averages occasionally alights as straight as a homing pigeon on the one spot where it can wreck the most. Then the earth opens for yards around and men must be dug out, some, merely breathless, who shake their ears and carry on, and others whose souls have gone loose among the terrors. These have to be dealt with as their psychology demands, and a French officer is a good psychologist. One of them said:

"Our national psychology has changed. I do not recognize it myself. What made the change? The boche. If he had been quiet for another twenty years the world must have been as rotten as his. But it is his now. He is saving the world."

How? Because he has shown us what evil is. We, you and I, England and civilization, had begun to doubt the existence of evil. The boche is saving us."

Then we had another look at the animal in its trench, a little nearer this time than before and quieter on account of the mist having picked up.

MANY AUTOMATIC PHONES INSTALLED

Scores of automatic telephones have been installed in this city during the past few days, but will not be used until the general switch from the antique system to the new is made, which will be sometime within the next three or four weeks. The new phones are attached so that when a call is made the bell of the new phone rings, but the talking must be done over the old instrument.

As soon as the change from the old to the new system is made the old phones will be entirely removed. The work is progressing very rapidly since the actual work of installing the instruments was taken up.

The Fall Elections

It seems now practically certain that the voters of Ohio at the elections in November will be called upon, in addition to electing the full array of municipal and township officials, and voting on the proposed constitutional amendments, to declare, by their ballots, whether they approve or disapprove of the action of the legislature in dividing the state into new congressional districts and enacting a new liquor license law. The submission of the liquor license law and the congressional gerrymander law for the consideration of the voters, is by virtue of the referendum provisions of the constitution. The unpleasant skirmishes which have already occurred with reference to the referendum petitions, the charges of fraud, threats of ouster of public officials by the governor on account of their activities, all disagreeable in the extreme, are but a forerunner of the bitter campaigns which will be waged. The fact that this year—an "off" year—the people of Ohio will be called upon to endure the tortures of at least a quartette of campaigns on state wide issues in a sad commentary on our boasted progress toward that happy time when we will be called upon to endure less politics and have fewer politicians. It will not do to say we have made no progress or that the remedy for existing ills is to surrender the power again to those who make a business of politics. Present conditions with the gloomy prospects these conditions prophesy is only a reminder that there must be no turning back or halting on the way.

Loan Progress Encouraging

The representatives of the allied powers of Europe, who have been for some days past, in conference with American financiers with a view to placing, in this country, a monster loan of one billion dollars, have every reason to believe that success will crown their efforts. It is wonderfully encouraging to observe that the foreign financiers are received and treated with every consideration. The American bankers, with a very few exceptions, look upon the proposal as purely one of business and if there is any feeling of partiality held for either of the contending powers by American bankers that feeling has not manifested itself to any noticeable extent. All prejudices and preferences, if they hold any such, are put aside by these dealers in dollars. The manner in which the whole matter has been dealt with by the American financiers goes a long way toward sustaining the oft repeated assertion that there is no considerable feeling among Americans as to any one of the contending nations. Of course it is recognized that bankers, as a class, are less impressionable than any other class of people and can lay aside any personal feelings they may entertain, especially when it comes to money matters, easier than any other class of people. It is not likely, however, that if there was any considerable feeling in this nation among the people generally it would fail to be reflected in the action of the financiers in dealing with the big loan proposal. Those who hope for the continuance of America's attitude of firm and honest neutrality find much to encourage them in the progress thus far made by the financiers in dealing with the application of some of the warring nations for a loan.

"Characters" We Miss Now

The number of striking personalities which the change in conditions—especially industrial conditions—has removed from the stage of the world's activities, is remarkable when busy Americans take time to indulge in quiet contemplation of the present and the past. Labor saving machinery has displaced thousands of mechanics. We all realize that in a general way, but the different trades that have vanished forever with the community character who typified a particular trade, is not so readily realized. The town shoemaker, the man who not only mended the old shoes but builded the new foot wear; the wagon maker, the carriage maker, the harness maker, the tanner, the cooper and others, each one a character, a man of homely wisdom and sound judgment and all of them respected citizens of influence in the community life, men about whose vocations and place of business a multitude of important happenings are associated have all passed off the stage of human activities forever. The inventive genius of men of the later generations has provided machinery to do the work which formally was done by hand and made of the successors of the former trade worker a mere director of machines. With the change in conditions has come the increased production, the actual saving of labor, the cheapening of production. But the change, beneficial as it is, has cost us the independent man who made a good living at his trade and was able to participate in all the deliberations of the community—a striking figure in the industrial and social life of the town in which he lived. The lovers of romance, those who hold dear the associations and the memories of other days, look with regret upon the coming of conditions which have eliminated those striking personalities of that other time, even though from a dollar and cent viewpoint we may be "better off."

Poetry For Today

WANDERLUST.
Beyond the east the sunrise, beyond the west the sea,
And east and west the wanderlust that will not let me be;
It works in me like madness, dear, to bid me say good-by!
I know not where the white road runs nor what the blue hills are,
But man can have the sun for friend, and for his guide a star;
And there's no end of voyaging when once the voice is heard,
For the river calls and the road calls, and oh, the call of a bird!
Yonder the long horizon lies, and there by night and day
The old ships draw me to home again the young ships sail away;
And come I may, but go I must, and if men ask you why,
You may put the blame on the stars and the sun and the white road and the sky.
—Gerald Gould.

COAT THIEVES ESCORTED TO THE XENIA WORKHOUSE

Allie DeWitt Placed Under Peace Bond Following Dire Threats Against Man Who Informed Upon Him for Bootlegging—Youth Is Fined for Fighting.

Mayor Coffey has been busy the past 24 hours, and as a result Darrell Devore and Pat Barker are now in the Xenia workhouse where they will learn the gentle art of broom making for a few months. Allie DeWitt, erstwhile bootlegger, was placed under $100 peace bond upon complaint of Jacob Davidson, and Clark Rumer was fined $5 and the costs for fighting.

Darrell Devore and Pat Barker, arrested in Columbus several days ago, and who vehemently denied that they had stolen certain coats from an automobile at the county fair a few weeks ago, finally admitted their guilt when they were confronted with evidence obtained by Chief Moore, whereupon Mayor Coffey gave Devore $200 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse, and Barker $100 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse.

Both young men have been in trouble repeatedly, and both were unable to pay their fines, so the little trip over to Xenia was arranged by Mayor Coffey and Patrolman Baughn sent along to insure a safe journey. The pair were taken over to the workhouse Thursday morning and it will be several months before they are released.

The charges against Clark Rumer grew out of some trouble during the night of the show. He paid the $5 and costs.

The trial of the charges against Allie DeWitt took place before Mayor Coffey Thursday morning, with J. D. Post representing the complainant and T. L. Barger representing the accused.

Several witnesses were introduced and DeWitt himself admitted his enmity toward Davidson because Davidson had testified against him in a bootlegging case sometime ago. He denied having threatened the man, but Davidson and his children testified that threats had been made. It was brought out in the testimony that DeWitt, acting upon the advice of his attorney, had killed Davidson's chickens when the fowls were upon DeWitt's premises.

DeWitt's bond was fixed at $100 and signed by Attorney Barger.

The Andrews Asphalt Company, the concern which had the job, is now busy applying the asphalt on East street, and it is expected that a large portion of that street will be completed this week and thrown open to traffic.

Unlike brick paving, it is not necessary to let the paving "set" for ten days or two weeks before traffic can pass over it. As soon as the freshly applied asphalt is cool, the street is ready for traffic.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE CHARGES NEGLECT

Charging neglect of duty, extreme cruelty, and mentioning beer parties and riotous living, Lavon Miller has filed suit in common pleas court for divorce from Jacob Miller, asks for alimony and that the defendant be restrained from interfering with the grocery business now being conducted by plaintiff on Rawlings and Delaware street.

Plaintiff claims they were married September 3, 1911, in this city, and that for the past six weeks the only funds contributed to her support was $6. A restraining order was issued. C. E. Baughn represents the plaintiff.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

The Rebekah Lodge of this city celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of its institution at the I. O. O. F. Temple, Wednesday night with nearly a hundred loyal members entering heartily into the spirit of the occasion.

A picnic supper, including all kinds of delicacies, was placed on long tables, beautified with asters, dahlias and marigolds, and the spread was a jolly one.

After the supper and social time a most entertaining program was presented in charge of Miss Lulu Larimer, Noble Grand.

Rev. A. W. West delivered the address of the evening, eulogizing the organization and its noble purposes with much eloquence.

Delightful readings were given by Misses Luella Riley, Marguerite Wilson, Norma Dodds and Helen Lemons.

Miss Beulah Elliott played a pretty piano solo and Misses Madonna and Louise Larimer contributed a beautiful vocal duet.

CONTROVERSY IS AT STANDSTILL

The controversy over the special assessment proposed for the "white way" lighting is at a standstill with the 65 property owners apparently waiting until some definite action is taken by the city council before proceeding further with their complaint against the proposed assessment.

So far no action has been taken on the petition presented by the property owners who object to the special assessment, and council has not taken any steps toward the passage of a special assessment ordinance.

Meanwhile the lighting company is making active preparations to proceed with the work of installing the new system in the city, the contract calling for a certain percentage of the lights being installed within 90 days from the time the contract was signed, which was done the day following the passage of the ordinance accepting the contract proposed.

MEMBERS URGED TO GET BUSY

In his monthly report to the official board, Wednesday night, Secretary Patton of the Y. M. C. A. called attention to the necessity of some of the members paying their membership fees promptly so that the institution may run along smoothly.

His report showed that the membership fees due total $398, divided up as follows: 13 Juniors, $52; 42 Seniors $252; and 8 sustaining members, $80. The total membership of the institution at the present time is 279, divided up with 197 Juniors, 95 Seniors, and 77 sustaining, and a "drive" for payment of the past-due fees and for new members will be made.

The receipts for the month of August total $261.29 and the expenditures were $250.79. Several bills remain unpaid, and this will be given attention by collection of the membership fees.

GREAT SHOW AT EMPIRE

In the J. A. Coburn's Greater Minstrels, Manager Wilson presented one of the best and cleanest attractions that has been seen at the Empire theater in many a day.

From beginning to end it was a whirl of music. Splendid music pulsing with melody fun and new and original humor.

Charles Gano, who heads the aggregation of burnt cork artists was remembered as the bright particular star of former shows and heartily welcomed back by the audience. The evening's program was largely his production, and his own skits original.

After Gano, supported in his skit by Lew Denny, the "Dancing Diversion," put on by Harry Ford and Bonnie Mack, made the big hit of the comedians.

"That Ragagation Four" Lucas, Ford, Newland and Greenland, were brought back repeatedly; the Musical Cates scored as Saxophone artists and the acrobats were par-excellence.

Beautiful stage settings and costumes were features of the minstrels. The curtain rose on a brilliant opening scene representing Old Venice, and the jungle scene of "The Lost River in Jungland" was as picturesque as it was typical. The political satire on "Teddy Bear Booz-evelt," politician, and "Hon. Wilem Jinsling Blovan," was decidedly clever and new, introducing with its parody features, the weird music,

HILDEBRANT IN FAVOR OF IMPROVING LOCAL ROADS

"You may enroll me now as a supporter of the project to improve immediately Main Market Road No. 10, connecting by direct route Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland," said Secretary of State Charles Q. Hildebrant today. "The importance of the three largest cities of the state and the volume of business among them and the amount of travel that will follow the completion of the highway makes a very, very strong case for the improvement. The highway improvements must follow the railway plan of first bringing up to modern standards the main trunk lines and then filling in the other sections. The impetus that will be given to other highway projects by the completion of the northeast and southwest system will be almost incalculable. I have been an admirer of the three large cities for their attitude toward state highway improvement. Although the city counties have built their own roads they are willing to contribute further to get highway bonds that will unite the state."

"As a Clinton county resident I cannot help taking in part a local view of the matter. By the road Wilmington will be joined to Columbus and Cincinnati directly and larger markets will be opened to our industrious farmers. Likewise there will be better opportunities for them to come to the cities for the recreation that is necessary to relieve the tedium of farm life. While I see the local side of the project, what has been said applies to every county through which the road will pass. Let's have the highway by all means just as soon as possible and let's make every road in Ohio an improved road."

"I want to congratulate the Ohio State Automobile Association and the Ohio Good Roads Federation for the friendliness of spirit they have shown in this undertaking. With the push and energy that these two big road boosters will put behind the proposition it surely is bound to succeed."

The projected road leaves Cleveland, thence to Medina, Wooster, Mt. Vernon, Columbus, Washington C. H., Wilmington and Cincinnati.

HINDENBURG STILL ACTIVE

Penetrates Russian Positions Southwest of Dvinsk, Which City Is Under Bombardment—Bulgaria Armed and Ready to Plunge Into the War. French Aviators Shell Capital of Wurtemberg.

London, Sept. 23.—Expert opinion here is that, although the Bulgarian army is now on the move, Bulgaria has not yet cast her lot with one side or the other, but is, as her minister here expressed it, still neutral, still waiting, but armed.

Bulgaria's position has not as yet been definitely defined. It is made plain, however, that the nation has for its object the incorporation of Macedonia within its borders and will take any steps considered necessary to attain that end. The military measures so far are of a precautionary nature, similar to those of Switzerland and Holland, according to the Bulgarian minister in London, who denied that Bulgaria has decided to act with the central powers.

few seconds, without fuss or trouble. What's the use of applying salves that make raw and sore, that make corns swell, bandages that make it misery to walk, tape that sticks, greasy ointment, and other contraptions. Get rid of corns the easy way, quick, simple, sure, new way. That's common sense. Try "Gets-It" also for warts and bunions. "Gets-It" can't hurt—the corn loosens, and comes right off—clean off.

"Gets-It" is sold at all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Washington C. H., and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Brown's Drug Store and Frank Christopher.

With the exception of a section of the northern tip of Polish front, where the Russian army is on the offensive near Friedrichstadt, the Germans claim progress throughout mid-Poland as far south as Ostrow, which they have captured. The greatest number of prisoners taken at any point, however, did not exceed 2,000.

The German war office claims further headway in Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's envelopment movement against Dvinsk, penetrating the Russian positions southwest of that city. Dvinsk is under bombardment.

Fighting on the western front is still chiefly confined to artillery firing which the French, British and Belgians are conducting on a huge scale after a systematic plan. Spirited cannonading has been opened in Belgium, and there has been a continuation of artillery engagements along the line of the south, the Paris war office mentioning especial activity between the Somme and the Oise and the Aisne and the Marne and in Loraine.

French aviators have bombarded Stuttgart, capital of the kingdom of Wurtemberg, according to the French official communication. They dropped about 100 shells on the royal palace and the station. They also dropped bombs at different points along the way.

SUBMARINE ISSUE IS TO BE ADJUSTED

Bernstorff Says Dispute Will Be Amicably Adjusted.

New York, Sept. 23.—The publication of the German and Austrian documents found on James F. J. Archibald in England left the German ambassador unperturbed. Count Von Bernstorff declared that "no matter what efforts might be made to involve him in the Archibald affair, he had done nothing that was not perfectly legitimate."

The count said that, as far as he was concerned, the German-American submarine controversy was quite at a standstill. He said that, until he hears from the government again, which will not be before two weeks, he would be able to make absolutely no public statements. He reiterated his assurance that the maritime question was in capable hands and would certainly be settled to the satisfaction of the American government and people.

It was also learned that the German ambassador is watching with great interest this country's negotiations with England regarding England's boycott of certain American markets, her confiscation of vast quantities of American meat products and the efforts of the Anglo-French commission to float a billion dollar loan in this country. As to the loan, it was learned that the count is very skeptical as to whether allied bonds will find purchasers in this country at the present state of England's fortunes in war. Regarding the meat cargo issue, the German ambassador is quoted as having exclaimed, "Well, there's a task for this country and England."

NO FAVORITISM SAYS CAMPBELL

Columbus, Sept. 23.—Dr. Z. B. Campbell, president of the state civil service commission, in answer to criticism that the efficiency of some departments would be jeopardized by provisional appointments, issued this statement: "There is absolutely no assurance that the provisional appointments now being made in different state departments will eventually be made permanent. Every provisional appointee must take the examination prepared by this commission, and must get a grade which will place him among the first three; otherwise he can not be made the permanent appointee."

HENRY FORD TO AID NAVY

New York, Sept. 23.—At the invitation of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Henry Ford of Detroit, will go down in a submarine at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Arrangements for Mr. Ford to inspect a submarine were made following his call on Secretary Daniels at Washington yesterday. Mr. Daniels desires to enlist Mr. Ford's services in aiding the navy to solve the problems it is confronted with in developing soluble types of engines for submarines and aeroplanes. Though Mr. Ford told Secretary Daniels that he felt he would oppose war as vigorously as lay in his power, he assured him that as an American citizen his services were always at the disposal of the government, and that he would do all in his power to assist the navy.

On the request of Mr. Ford, Secretary Daniels is having prepared a history of the navy department's efforts to evolve satisfactory types of engines for aeroplanes and submarines which is to be sent Mr. Ford for his information.

Naval officers admit that if Mr. Ford can make possible the use of a gasoline engine in submarines when submerged, he will have achieved a great step forward in the development of submarines.

Mr. Ford said: "The way to stop this awful business of war is to exterminate the warriors. I can make an aerial torpedo thrower, operated by wireless, which would depopulate the earth in a short time, and it wouldn't cost more than $100 to make it." He also described his gasoline submarine, which, he insisted, "will work," despite the many criticisms which have been offered by the incredulous.

New York, Sept. 23.—Negotiations or conferences between the Anglo-French financial mission and American bankers over the proposed foreign loan are at a standstill. In their conference the two parties have reached a point where one of them must make a concession in principle. Undoubtedly, from everything that could be learned, Russia plays an important part in the present delay. Her participation in the bonds might affect the sale of them in this country.

Home Merchants have it, no doubt.

OLD TOWN TOO SLOW---RUNS OFF WITH THE SHOW

The following article telling how a local youth ran away with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus Monday night, and was arrested and sent back to this city, is from Wednesday's Lancaster Eagle.

"A telegram to Chief of Police Henry J. Wallace, Tuesday, from Washington, C. H. asked him to locate and arrest Homer Bethard, a 17 year old boy of that place who ran away from home Monday night, coming to Lancaster Tuesday morning with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

"The police had little trouble locating the boy at the show grounds where he was working with the canvas gang. He was locked up and held until Wednesday morning when he was placed aboard the 7:55 Pennsylvania train, his father having telegraphed money for a ticket and sent back to Washington.

"The young man said Washington was too slow for him, that he wanted to get out and see the world.

"Young Bethard said he had made no bargain with the show manager but he had been told that they would give him work and board and pay him off at the end of the season, but didn't say how much.

"He stated that he had made four previous attempts to run away from home but his father always located him and made him go back home, but he didn't think he would this time as he told him the last time he ran away that he would never go after him or send for him again and if he ever left home again "he could stay till he got his fill of it."

"The father evidently relented this decision and fearing harm might come to the lad went after him again and took him home."

BIG CIRCUS COMING THIS WAY SOON.

The Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will exhibit at Xenia on Thursday, September 30, and this good news is being heralded everywhere by the many agents of this, the biggest and foremost amusement institution in the world. The Barnum and Bailey Circus has always been the largest that travels and this season the management has found it necessary to add many more cars to their trains in order to provide for the great equipment. It requires 85 double length railroad cars to transport the big show, 1280 people are employed, there are 700 horses, 40 elephants and a menagerie of 110 cages, 480 world famed artists take part in the greatest circus program this world has ever known.

A fitting introduction to the wonderful performance this year, is the presentation of the new, magnificent spectacular pageant, "Lalla Rookh" in which nearly 1000 characters take part.

In the circus proper, which is presented in three rings, four stages, the hippodrome, and in the dome of the largest tent ever erected, 480 performers from every nation in the world take part and present a vast array of foreign features entirely new to America. A wonderful trained animal exhibition is given by the Marvelous War Elephants, Pallenberg's Wonder Bears, Madam Bradna's Angel Horses, Thalero's Dogs, Ponies and Monkeys, and the Barnum and Bailey Statue Horses.

Great interest is already being shown in this neighborhood and great crowds will no doubt go to Xenia for the biggest and most enjoyable holiday of the year. Everyone is advised to get an early start in order to be there in time for the parade which starts promptly at 10 a. m., and which is said to eclipse anything of its kind ever before attempted in the history of circus business.

If women photographed for the public eye must take striking poses what is the matter with the broomstick, washboard and rolling pin acts?

RUSS CLAIM GERMANS LOST 250,000 MEN ABOUT VILNA

Withdrawal of the Entire Slavic Army Accomplished, But Germans Move Upon Dvinsk.

110,000 FRESH TROOPS SENT TO AID ALLIES ON THE DARDANELLES

Twenty-eight Classes of Bulgarians Called Out and Great Excitement Prevails in Greece—Snow Hampers Austro Italian Troops—Turks Short of Munitions, and 2000 Men Leave Krupp Plant Because Raw Material Is Short—Progress Made By Teutonic Forces.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, September 23.—(Bulletin)—A new army of 110,000 men has been sent to assist the allies at the Dardanelles, says an Over Seas News Agency dispatch.

Petrograd, September 23.—The Russian military authorities regard the withdrawal from the very difficult positions near Vilna, which for a time seriously menaced a large army, as virtually completed. They assert the Germans have lost 250,000 men in their recent operations in this region.

London, September 23.—The strongly fortified Russian city of Dvinsk, on the Dvina, 110 miles southeast of Riga, has become the new German objective, now that the Russian armies apparently have escaped from the Vilna net.

The German forces east and south-east of Lida are now making more rapid progress, but their increased speed at this time is expected to gain them little, in view of the fact that the safe retreat of the greater part of the Russian forces now seems to be assured.

The chief success of the Germans in the last day or two has been along the Dvina front, which bars the road to Petrograd.

Southwest of Dvinsk, the invaders captured Russian trenches on a front of nearly two miles taking 2000 prisoners and eight machine guns.

For the time being, the domestic situation in Russia is quiet. The strike in protest at the prorogation of the Duma may be revived, however, if the government persists in its opposition to the movement in favor of reassembling parliament and permitting the formation of a new cabinet.

Along the western front the French report destruction of a German patrol in Champagne. Berlin states that the patrol was withdrawn after destroying French works.

Mobilization of Bulgarian forces continues to excite keen interest, but the belligerent, as well as the neutral world, seems to be in the dark as to the purpose which dictated this movement.

London, September 23.—Recent reports that Turkish supplies were running short are reiterated in private reports, brought to Switzerland from Constantinople.

It is declared that because of the lack of raw materials, 2000 workmen from the Krupp plant in Germany are idle in the Ottoman capital.

Berlin, September 23.—The new German offensive movement, with its object the capture of the important Russian fortified city of Dvinsk, has made definite progress.

The War Office announced today that the Russian advance positions west of the city had been penetrated, and that more than 2,000 prisoners and several machine guns had been captured.

Athens, September 23.—Up to midnight on Wednesday, twenty-eight classes of troops had been included in the Bulgarian mobilization order.

This news caused great excitement in Athens.

London, September 23.—Reports from the Italian front are that snows already are rendering operations of the Italians and Austrians in the mountain districts increasingly difficult.

FORD TAKES TRIP ON SUB.

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer, took a trip in one of the submarines at the New York navy yard today, in furtherance of his promised attempt to perfect a gasoline motor for use in such craft.

He was insistent that an efficient undersea craft could be built at one-sixteenth the cost of the present vessels.

When asked how many of them he would suggest building, he replied: "none."

FINANCIERS SAY NO FRICTION

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Members of the Anglo-French financial commission today issued a statement denying reports current in Wall Street that there had been friction between financiers and its members.

An official statement concerning the progress of negotiations was not expected today for another week.

PROBING CAVE-IN

By Associated Press.

New York, September 23.—Five official investigations of the cave-in yesterday of the new subway under construction in Seventh Avenue, in which seven persons were killed and about 86 injured, were in progress today.

The accident was still attributed to a collapse of the wooden street surface, as the result of a dynamite blast.

At least five miles of Manhattan's thoroughfares, including some of the avenues carrying heavy traffic, are underpinned by subway construction.

Engineers fear a repetition of the accident, possibly under Broadway, which is more crowded with traffic than was Seventh Avenue at the time of the cave-in.

Four of the subway workmen were still missing today, and it was feared that their bodies were buried under the debris.

BODY OF GIRL FOUND IN LAKE

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, September 23.—The body of Miss Jennie Davis, 28, was found floating in Shaker Lake today by Robert T. Hattwick, caretaker of the Shaker Lake Canoe Club.

Police believe the woman was murdered by being thrown into the lake after an attack.

Miss Davis had been missing since Sunday evening, when she left home saying she had arranged to meet a man friend and spend the evening with him.

The body was fully clothed when found, and there were no marks visible on it.

The man whom the girl planned to meet has been found, and says he did not keep his engagement with her.

The lake is surrounded by a lonely patch of woods, through which the girl must have passed and in which it is believed the attack was made.

FASTENED IN HOMES, SEVEN CHILDREN DIE

By Associated Press.

Dayton, O., September 23.—Three children, aged 1, 4 and 7 years, of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Szencsoik, suffocated today, when the house in which their mother locked them caught fire, the police say, because the children were playing with matches. A fourth child escaped death.

Large, Pa., September 23.—Trapped by flames, which enveloped their home while their mother was calling on a neighbor, four children of Daniel Kish were burned to death here today.

The bodies of the children, who ranged in age from 2 to 6 years, were found near the beds from which they had been roused by the fire.

CAPSIZED IN THAMES RIVER

London, September 23.—The Dutch steamer Koningen Emma, of 9,000 tons, which struck a mine as she was on her way to Amsterdam from Batavia, Java, capsized and sank in the Thames today.

The 250 passengers had been taken off the Koningen Emma which was being towed up the river when she sank.

GERMANY AGREES TO PAY FRYE INDEMNITY

Note to U. S. Government Very Friendly and Germany Agrees Not to Destroy American Merchantmen Under Any Circumstances Unless Cargo Is Wholly Contraband—Complete Satisfaction to Be Accorded the United States

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 23.—Germany, in its latest note in the Frye case, made public today, notified the United States that orders have been issued "the German naval forces, not to destroy American merchantmen which have loaded conditional contraband, even when the conditions of international law are present; but to permit them to continue their voyage unhindered if it is not possible to take them into port."

Germany gave this assurance "in order to furnish to the American government evidence of its conciliatory attitude" while the question of interpreting the treaty of 1828 is submitted to arbitration.

The American suggestion for the naming of experts to fix the indemnity for sinking the Frye is accepted.

As for absolute contraband, such as arms and ammunition, Germany states in its note that "it must reserve to itself the right to destroy vessels carrying absolute contraband wherever such destruction is permissible, according to the provisions of the Declaration of London."

The German note is regarded by officials as evidencing a more friendly spirit on the part of the German Foreign Office.

Following months of strained relations between the two countries, it was received as a very favorable development.

It practically insures American vessels against attack without warning, and even in the event that they are carrying absolute contraband, passengers and crew are bound, according to the Declaration of London, to be removed before there is any destruction, which also can occur only in the event of extreme necessity.

'TIS NICE TO BE A SOLON

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, September 23.—The legislators, state officials and their wives, who are attending the legislative reunion, started on a special train early today for Chattanooga, Tenn., over the Cincinnati Southern Railway, which is managed by the city of Cincinnati.

Tomorrow they will go to the Chickamauga battlefields and to Lookout Mountain. They will return Saturday.

SMALL STEAMERS ARE BLOWN UP

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, September 23.—A man arrested here today under the name of Tom Bailey is declared by the police to be Robert Strang, wanted in Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio, for insurance and surety bond frauds amounting to more than $10,000.

Strang's wife, who is supposed to be in Youngstown, O., is said to have collected it on representing that Strang had been drowned in the Ohio river, at Cincinnati last May.

Police say Strang was a professional diver and stayed under water so long that a companion, who had been with him when he fell from a boat, thought he was drowned.

Extradition papers have been requested by Cincinnati police for Strang's return.

RUINED RHEIMS AS VIEWED BY KIPLING

Famous Author Describes How the Psychology of France Is Altered By War—Shell Battered Cathedral Altar of Invaders to Commemorate Their Death.

NOTE—The first installment of the Second Series of Articles from the pen on Rudyard Kipling, is presented below. Watch this page for next installment.

By RUDYARD KIPLING.

(Copyright, 1915, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.)

WE left that stricken but undefeated town, dodged a few miles down roads beside which women tended their cows and dropped into place on a hill where a Moroccan regiment of many experiences was billeted.

They were Mohammedans bafflingly like a half dozen of our Indian frontier types. Though they spoke no accessible tongue they had, of course, turned farm buildings where they lay into a little bit of Africa in color and in smell. They had been gassed in Flanders, shot down and shot up to be shelled again, and their officers talked of north African wars that we had never heard of, sultry days against long odds in the desert, years ago.

"Afterward, is it not so with you also? We get our best recruits from the troops we have fought. These men are children. They make no trouble. They only want to go where cartridges are burned. They are of the few races to whom fighting is a pleasure."

"And how long have you dealt with them?"

"A long time, a long time. I helped organize corps. I am one of those whose hearts are in Africa."

He spoke slowly, almost feeling for his French words, and gave some of them an order I shall not forget. Nor shall I forget his eyes as he turned to a huge brown Afredee, like a Mussulman, hunkering down beside his accoutrements. He had two sides to his head, that bearded, burned, slow spoken officer we met and parted with all in an hour.

Petrol Flavors Twilight.

The day closed after an amazing interlude in the chateau of a dream which was all glassy ponds, stately trees and vistas of white and gold salons. The proprietor was somebody's chauffeur at the front. We drank his health in the little village, in twilight, full of petrol, hundreds of cars and the wholesome flavor of healthy troops. There is no better guide to camp than one's own thoughtful nose, and, though I poked mine everywhere, in no place did it strike that vile, betraying taint of underfed, unclean men and gun horses.

It is difficult to keep one's edge after hours of fresh air and experience. One does not get the most from the most interesting part of the day—dinner with the local headquarters. Here the professionals meet, the line gunners, the intelligence, with stupefying photo plans of the enemy's trenches, the supply, the staff who collect and note all things and are very properly chaffed and, to be sure, the interpreter, who by force of questioning prisoners naturally develops into a Sadducee.

It is their little aside to each other, the slang and half words, which, if one but understood instead of blabbing drowsily at one's plate, would give a day's history. But the tiredness and the difficulties of a sister, not a foreign, tongue dims everything, and one goes to bed amid the murmur of voices, the rush of single cars through the night, the passage of battalions and behind all the echo of deep voices calling one to the other along a line that never sleeps.

Batteries In Hiding.

A long ridge with scattered pines. It might have hidden children at play. Certainly a horse would have been quite visible. But there was no hint of guns, except a semaphore which announced that it was forbidden to pass that way as a battery was firing. The boches must have looked for that battery too. The ground was pitted with shell holes of all calibers, some of them as fresh as mole casts in the misty, damp morning, others where popples had grown from seed to flower all through the summer.

"And where are the guns?" I demanded at last. They were almost under one's hand, their ammunition in cellars and dugouts beside them.

And, as far as I could make out, the 75 millimeter gun has no pet name. The bayonet, of course, is Rosalie, virgin of Bayonne, but the 75, the watchful nurse of the trenches and the little sister of the line, seems to be always the Soixante-Quinze. But even those who love her best do not say that she is beautiful. Her merits are French logic, directness, simplicity and the supreme gift of occasionality. She is equal to everything on the spur of the moment. One sees and studies the few appliances which make her do what she does, and one feels that any one could have invented her.

"As a matter of fact," says a commandant, "anybody, or, rather, everybody, did. The recoil is after such and such a system, patent of which had expired, and we improved it. The breech action, with slight modification is somebody else's; the fighting is perhaps a little special, and so is the traversing, but at bottom it is only an assembly of variations and arrangements."

Guns Result of Collaboration.

That, of course, is all Shakespeare ever got out of the alphabet. French artillerymen make their own guns, as he made his plays. It is just as simple as that.

"There is nothing going on for a moment," said the commandant. "It is too misty. I fancy that the boches, being of all things methodical, introduce the amateurs to the batteries in the intervals. At least there are hours, healthy and unhealthy, which vary with each position. But," the commandant reflected, "there, let us say, is a place and a distance."

He gave a range. The gun servers stood back with the bored contempt of the professional for the layman who intrudes on his mysteries. Other civilians had come that way before, had seen and grinned and complimented and gone their way, leaving the gunner high up on the back of the bleak hillside to grill or mildew or freeze for weeks and months.

Then she spoke. Her voice was higher pitched, it seemed, than ours, with a more shrewish tang to the speeding shell. Her recoil was as swift and as graceful as the shrug of a Frenchman's shoulders. The empty case leaped forth and clanged against the trail, the tops of two or three pines fifty yards away nodded knowingly to each other, though there was no wind.

"They'll be bothered down below to know the meaning of our single shot. We don't give them one dose at a time as a rule."

Somebody laughed. We waited in the fragrant silence. Nothing came back from the mist over that clogged lower ground, though no shell of this war was ever launched with more earnest prayers that it may do harm.

French Psychology Changed.

They talked about the lives of guns, what number of rounds some will stand and others will not, how one can make two good guns out of three spoiled ones and what crazy luck sometimes goes with a single shot or a blind salvo. A shell must fall somewhere and by the law of averages occasionally alights as straight as a homing pigeon on the one spot where it can wreck the most. Then the earth opens for yards around and men must be dug out, some, merely breathless, who shake their ears and carry on, and others whose souls have gone loose among the terrors. These have to be dealt with as their psychology demands, and a French officer is a good psychologist. One of them said:

"Our national psychology has changed. I do not recognize it myself. What made the change? The boche. If he had been quiet for another twenty years the world must have been as rotten as his. But it is his now. He is saving the world."

How? Because he has shown us what evil is. We you and I England and civilization, had begun to doubt the existence of evil. The boche is saving us."

Then we had another look at the animal in its trench, a little nearer this time than before and quieter on account of the mist having picked up.

MANY AUTOMATIC PHONES INSTALLED

Scores of automatic telephones have been installed in this city during the past few days, but will not be used until the general switch from the antique system to the new is made, which will be sometime within the next three or four weeks. The new phones are attached so that when a call is made the bell of the new phone rings, but the talking must be done over the old instrument.

As soon as the change from the old to the new system is made the old phones will be entirely removed.

The work is progressing very rapidly since the actual work of installing the instruments was taken up.

The Fall Elections

It seems now practically certain that the voters of Ohio at the elections in November will be called upon, in addition to electing the full array of municipal and township officials, and voting on the proposed constitutional amendments, to declare, by their ballots, whether they approve or disapprove of the action of the legislature in dividing the state into new congressional districts and enacting a new liquor license law.

The submission of the liquor license law and the congressional gerrymander law for the consideration of the voters, is by virtue of the referendum provisions of the constitution.

The unpleasant skirmishes which have already occurred with reference to the referendum petitions, the charges of fraud, threats of ouster of public officials by the governor on account of their activities, all disagreeable in the extreme, are but a forerunner of the bitter campaigns which will be waged.

The fact that this year—an "off" year—the people of Ohio will be called upon to endure the tortures of at least a quartette of campaigns on state wide issues in a sad commentary on our boasted progress toward that happy time when we will be called upon to endure less politics and have fewer politicians.

It will not do to say we have made no progress or that the remedy for existing ills is to surrender the power again to those who make a business of politics.

Present conditions with the gloomy prospects these conditions prophesy is only a reminder that there must be no turning back or halting on the way.

Loan Progress Encouraging

The representatives of the allied powers of Europe, who have been for some days past, in conference with American financiers with a view to placing, in this country, a monster loan of one billion dollars, have every reason to believe that success will crown their efforts.

It is wonderfully encouraging to observe that the foreign financiers are received and treated with every consideration. The American bankers, with a very few exceptions, look upon the proposal as purely one of business and if there is any feeling of partiality held for either of the contending powers by American bankers that feeling has not manifested itself to any noticeable extent.

All prejudices and preferences, if they hold any such, are put aside by these dealers in dollars. The manner in which the whole matter has been dealt with by the American financiers goes a long way toward sustaining the oft repeated assertion that there is no considerable feeling among Americans as to any one of the contending nations.

Of course it is recognized that bankers, as a class, are less impressionable than any other class of people and can lay aside any personal feelings they may entertain, especially when it comes to money matters, easier than any other class of people.

It is not likely, however, that if there was any considerable feeling in this nation among the people generally it would fail to be reflected in the action of the financiers in dealing with the big loan proposal.

Those who hope for the continuance of America's attitude of firm and honest neutrality find much to encourage them in the progress thus far made by the financiers in dealing with the application of some of the warring nations for a loan.

"Characters" We Miss Now

The number of striking personalities which the change in conditions—especially industrial conditions—has removed from the stage of the world's activities, is remarkable when busy Americans take time to indulge in quiet contemplation of the present and the past.

Labor saving machinery has displaced thousands of mechanics. We all realize that in a general way, but the different trades that have vanished forever with the community character who typified a particular trade, is not so readily realized.

The town shoemaker, the man who not only mended the old shoes but built the new foot wear; the wagon maker, the carriage maker, the harness maker, the tanner, the cooper and others, each one a character, a man of homely wisdom and sound judgment and all of them respected citizens of influence in the community life, men about whose vocations and place in the community a multitude of important happenings are associated have all passed off the stage of human activities forever.

The inventive genius of men of the later generations has provided machinery to do the work which formerly was done by hand and made of the successors of the former trade worker a mere director of machines. With the change in conditions has come the increased production, the actual saving of labor, the cheapening of production. But the change, beneficial as it is, has cost us the independent man who made a good living at his trade and was able to participate in all the deliberations of the community—a striking figure in the industrial and social life of the town in which he lived.

The lovers of romance, those who hold dear the associations and the memories of other days, look with regret upon the coming of conditions which have eliminated those striking personalities of that other time, even though from a dollar and cent viewpoint we may be "better off."

Poetry For Today

WANDERLUST.

Beyond the east the sunrise, beyond the west the sea,
And east and west the wanderlust that will not let me be;
It works in me like madness, dear, to bid me say good-by!

I know not where the white road runs nor what the blue hills are,
But man can have the sun for friend, and for his guide a star;
And there's no end of voyaging when once the voice is heard,
For the river calls and the road calls, and oh, the call of a bird!

Yonder the long horizon lies, and there by night and day
The old ships draw me to home again the young ships sail away;
And come I may, but go I must, and if men ask you why,
You may put the blame on the stars and the sun and the white road and the sky.

—Gerald Gould.

Luke McLuke Says

When a princess gets a chance to ride in a big car she thinks she has to keep her nose up in the air all the time or you will imagine that she isn't used to motoring.

A girl always has sense enough to keep her mouth shut about her relations. That's why hubby comes home some night after they have been married about six months and finds the house filled with tacky looking rubes and learns that his wife's cousin Mary has brought her family to visit for a week or two.

It is possible for a man to forget the $5 he loaned to a stranger, but he never forgets the dime change he has coming when he gives his wife two bits to buy 15 cents' worth of something.

The girls of today are lucky. There is no big family Bible with all of the birth dates in it resting on the center table in the parlor.

This would be a better world if some of the reformers would find time to mind their own business.

It must take a lot of coal to warm the house in which the ladies shown in the cuts in the underwear advertisements live. Last time I saw them the thermometer read around zero, and yet the ladies were grouped in the drawing room gossiping about fashions and sitting on divans in front of open windows reading love stories. And yet the most comfortably dressed of the lot wore nothing but a pair of shoulder ribbons and an abbreviated lace curtain.

Mayor Coffey has been busy the past 24 hours, and as a result Darrell Devore and Pat Barker are now in the Xenia workhouse where they will learn the gentle art of broom making for a few months. Allie DeWitt, erstwhile bootlegger, was placed under $100 peace bond upon complaint of Jacob Davidson, and Clark Rumer was fined $5 and the costs for fighting.

Darrell Devore and Pat Barker, arrested in Columbus several days ago, and who vehemently denied that they had stolen certain coats from an automobile at the county fair a few weeks ago, finally admitted their guilt when they were confronted with evidence obtained by Chief Moore, whereupon Mayor Coffey gave Devore $200 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse, and Barker $100 and the costs and 30 days in the workhouse.

Both young men have been in trouble repeatedly, and both were unable to pay their fines, so the little trip over to Xenia was arranged by Mayor Coffey and Patrolman Baughn sent along to insure a safe journey. The pair were taken over to the workhouse Thursday morning and it will be several months before they are released.

The charges against Clark Rumer grew out of some trouble during the night of the show. He paid the $5 and costs.

The trial of the charges against Allie DeWitt took place before Mayor Coffey Thursday morning, with J. D. Post representing the complainant and T. L. Barger representing the accused.

Several witnesses were introduced and DeWitt himself admitted his enmity toward Davidson because Davidson had testified against him in a bootlegging case sometime ago. He denied having threatened the man, but Davidson and his children testified that threats had been made. It was brought out in the testimony that DeWitt, acting upon the advice of his attorney, had killed Davidson's chickens when the fowls were upon DeWitt's premises.

DeWitt's bond was fixed at $100 and signed by Attorney Barger.

DUTCH TREAT CLUB HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING TODAY

Chairman Worthington Complimented—Plans for Banquet for All Business Men—White Way Trouble Discussed—Fire Hydrants to Be Painted Red With Silver Caps—Want Numbering of Houses.

The noonday session of the Dutch Treat Club was one of particular interest. Fully thirty members were present to enjoy the luncheon.

Following the luncheon Rev. Wm. B. Gage made a short address in which he highly complimented Mr. Wm. Worthington for his splendid work in bringing the city to the forefront, calling him a leader of men and proposing a vote of thanks. The vote was unanimous. Mr. Worthington responding, stated that it had been a pleasure to take part in the work, and that his success had been due to the loyalty of the men behind him, and that they should be complimented for the splendid work.

Upon the proposal of M. E. Hitchcock, a committee was named to confer with council regarding the renumbering of houses in the city. Hitchcock, Campbell and Shank were named upon the committee and will select two other members. They will confer with council at an early meeting.

Clarence Craig, chairman of the meal ticket committee, reported that tickets for the various luncheons of the club could be obtained at $1.50 per month.

Plans for a mammoth banquet, to which all business men in the city will be invited, were outlined. The date will be chosen later.

The "white way" lighting was discussed at some length and a committee appointed to verify certain figures submitted relative to the cost of the lights, and report at an early meeting. Three of the property owners who had signed the petition to council objecting to the special assessment, voluntarily withdrew their names from the petition, stating that they were convinced the white way was a good thing.

Howard Griffiths reported that Supt. Fisher of the water company had informed him that paint was ready for the fire hydrants of the city, and they will be painted a bright red with aluminum caps.

It was announced that the Dutch Treat Club would insist that the Millwood citizens have the new street connection that the majority favor.

NEW ASPHALT STREET OPEN

East Court street—the city's first asphalt street, was thrown open for traffic early Thursday morning and is proving a delight to everyone who passes over it, and particularly to drivers of automobiles who find the surface as smooth as glass but the street too short for much speeding.

Hundreds of citizens have inspected the street and the indications are that there will be a general demand for asphalt paving on streets to be improved in the residence district next year.

Property owners on the street are more than pleased and are fully satisfied with the improvement.

The Andrews Asphalt Company, the concern which had the job, is now busy applying the asphalt on East street, and it is expected that a large portion of that street will be completed this week and thrown open to traffic.

Unlike brick paving, it is not necessary to let the paving "set" for ten days or two weeks before traffic can pass over it. As soon as the freshly applied asphalt is cool, the street is ready for traffic.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE CHARGES NEGLECT

Charging neglect of duty, extreme cruelty, and mentioning beer parties and riotous living, Lavon Miller has filed suit in common pleas court for divorce from Jacob Miller, asks for alimony and that the defendant be restrained from interfering with the grocery business now being conducted by plaintiff on Rawlings and Delaware street.

Plaintiff claims they were married September 9, 1911, in this city, and that for the past six weeks the only funds contributed to her support was $6. A restraining order was issued. C. E. Baughn represents the plaintiff.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

The Rebekah Lodge of this city celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of its institution at the I. O. O. F. Temple, Wednesday night with nearly a hundred loyal members entering heartily into the spirit of the occasion.

A picnic supper, including all kinds of delicacies, was placed on long tables, beautified with asters, dahlias and marigolds, and the spread was a jolly one.

After the supper and social time a most entertaining program was presented in charge of Miss Lulu Larimer, Noble Grand.

Rev. A. W. West delivered the address of the evening, eulogizing the organization and its noble purposes with much eloquence.

Delightful readings were given by Misses Luella Riley, Marguerite Wilson, Norma Dodds and Helen Lemons.

Miss Beulah Elliott played a pretty piano solo and Misses Madonna and Louise Larimer contributed a beautiful vocal duet.

CONTROVERSY IS AT STANDSTILL

The controversy over the special assessment proposed for the "white way" lighting is at a standstill with the 65 property owners apparently waiting until some definite action is taken by the city council before proceeding further with their complaint against the proposed assessment.

So far no action has been taken on the petition presented by the property owners who object to the special assessment, and council has not taken any steps toward the passage of a special assessment ordinance.

Meanwhile the lighting company is making active preparations to proceed with the work of installing the new system in the city, the contract calling for a certain percentage of the lights being installed within 90 days from the time the contract was signed, which was done the day following the passage of the ordinance accepting the contract proposed.

MEMBERS URGED TO GET BUSY

In his monthly report to the official board, Wednesday night, Secretary Patton of the Y. M. C. A. called attention to the necessity of some of the members paying their membership fees promptly so that the institution may run along smoothly.

His report showed that the membership fees due total $398, divided up as follows: 13 Juniors, $52; 42 Seniors $252; and 8 sustaining members, $80. The total membership of the institution at the present time is 279, divided up with 197 Juniors, 95 Seniors, and 77 sustaining, and a "drive" for payment of the past-due fees and for new members will be made.

The receipts for the month of August total $261.29 and the expenditures were $250.79. Several bills remain unpaid, and this will be given attention by collection of the membership fees.

GREAT SHOW AT EMPIRE

In the J. A. Coburn's Greater Minstrels, Manager Wilson presented one of the best and cleanest attractions that has been seen at the Empire theater in many a day.

From beginning to end it was a whirl of music. Splendid music pulsing with melody fun and new and original humor.

Charles Gano, who heads the aggregation of burnt cork artists was remembered as the bright particular star of former shows and heartily welcomed back by the audience. The evening's program was largely his production, and his own skits original.

After Gano, supported in his skit by Lew Denny, the "Dancing Diversion," put on by Harry Ford and Bonnie Mack, made the big hit of the comedians.

"That Ragagation Four" Lucas, Ford, Newland and Greenland, were brought back repeatedly; the Musical Cates scored as Saxophone artists and the acrobats were par-excellence.

Beautiful stage settings and costumes were features of the minstrels. The curtain rose on a brilliant opening scene representing Old Venice, and the jungle scene of "The Lost River in Jungland" was as picturesque as it was typical. The political satire on "Teddy Bear Bozevelt," politician, and "Hon. Willem Jinsling Blovan," was decidedly clever and new, introducing with its parody features, the weird music,

HILDEBRANT IN FAVOR OF IMPROVING LOCAL ROADS

"You may enroll me now as a supporter of the project to improve immediately Main Market Road No. 10, connecting by direct route Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland," said Secretary of State Charles Q. Hildebrant today. "The importance of the three largest cities of the state and the volume of business among them and the amount of travel that will follow the completion of the highway makes a very, very strong case for the improvement. The highway improvements must follow the railway plan of first bringing up to modern standards the main trunk lines and then filling in the other sections. The impetus that will be given to other highway projects by the completion of the northeast and southwest system will be almost incalculable. I have been an admirer of the three large cities for their attitude toward state highway improvement. Although the city counties have built their own roads they are willing to contribute further to get highway bonds that will unite the state.

"As a Clinton county resident I cannot help taking in part a local view of the matter. By the road Wilmington will be joined to Columbus and Cincinnati directly and larger markets will be opened to our industrious farmers. Likewise there will be better opportunities for them to come to the cities for the recreation that is necessary to relieve the tedium of farm life. While I see the local side of the project, what has been said applies to every county through which the road will pass. Let's have the highway by all means just as soon as possible and let's make every road in Ohio an improved road.

"I want to congratulate the Ohio State Automobile Association and the Ohio Good Roads Federation for the friendliness of spirit they have shown in this undertaking. With the push and energy that these two big road boosters will put behind the proposition it surely is bound to succeed."

The projected road leaves Cleveland, thence to Medina, Wooster, Mt. Vernon, Columbus, Washington C. H., Wilmington and Cincinnati.

HINDENBURG STILL ACTIVE

Penetrates Russian Positions Southwest of Dvinsk, Which City is Under Bombardment—Bulgaria Armed and Ready to Plunge into the War, French Aviators Shell Capital of Wurtemburg.

London, Sept. 23.—Expert opinion here is that, although the Bulgarian army is now on the move, Bulgaria has not yet cast her lot with one side or the other, but is, as her minister here expressed it, still neutral, still waiting, but armed.

Bulgaria's position has not as yet been definitely defined. It is made plain, however, that the nation has for its object the incorporation of Macedonia within its borders and will take any steps considered necessary to attain that end. The military measures so far are of a precautionary nature, similar to those of Switzerland and Holland, according to the Bulgarian minister in London, who denied that Bulgaria has decided to act with the central powers.

With the exception of a section of the northern tip of Polish front, where the Russian army is on the offensive near Friedrichstadt, the Germans claim progress throughout mid-Poland as far south as Ostrow, which they have captured. The greatest number of prisoners taken at any point, however, did not exceed 2,000.

The German war office claims further headway in Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's envelopment movement against Dvinsk, penetrating the Russian positions southwest of that city. Dvinsk is under bombardment.

Fighting on the western front is still chiefly confined to artillery firing which the French, British and Belgians are conducting on a huge scale after a systematic plan. Spirited cannonading has been opened in Belgium, and there has been a continuation of artillery engagements along the line of the south. # SUBMARINE ISSUE IS TO BE ADJUSTED

Bernstorff Says Dispute Will Be Amicably Adjusted.

New York, Sept. 23.—The publication of the German and Austrian documents found on James F. J. Archibald in England left the German ambassador unperturbed. Count Von Bernstorff declared that "no matter what efforts might be made to involve him in the Archibald affair, he had done nothing that was not perfectly legitimate.

The count said that, as far as he was concerned, the German-American submarine controversy was quite at a standstill. He said that, until he hears from the government again, which will not be before two weeks, he would be able to make absolutely no public statements. He reiterated his assurance that the maritime question was in capable hands and would certainly be settled to the satisfaction of the American government and people.

It was also learned that the German ambassador is watching with great interest this country's negotiations with England regarding England's boycott of certain American markets, her confiscation of vast quantities of American meat products and the efforts of the Anglo-French commission to float a billion dollar loan in this country. As to the loan, it was learned that the count is very skeptical as to whether allied bonds will find purchasers in this country at the present state of England's fortunes in war. Regarding the meat cargo issue, the German ambassador is quoted as having exclaimed, "Well, there's a task for this country and England."

HENRY FORD TO AID NAVY

New York, Sept. 23.—At the invitation of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Henry Ford of Detroit, will go down in a submarine at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Arrangements for Mr. Ford to inspect a submarine were made following his call on Secretary Daniels at Washington yesterday. Mr. Daniels desires to enlist Mr. Ford's services in aiding the navy to solve the problems it is confronted with in developing soluble types of engines for submarines and aeroplanes. Though Mr. Ford told Secretary Daniels that he felt he would oppose war as vigorously as lay in his power, he assured him that as an American citizen his services were always at the disposal of the government, and that he would do all in his power to assist the navy.

On the request of Mr. Ford, Secretary Daniels is having prepared a history of the navy department's efforts to evolve satisfactory types of engines for aeroplanes and submarines which is to be sent Mr. Ford for his information.

Naval officers admit that if Mr. Ford can make possible the use of a gasoline engine in submarines when submerged, he will have achieved a great step forward in the development of submarines.

Mr. Ford said: "The way to stop this awful business of war is to exterminate the warriors. I can make an aerial torpedo thrower, operated by wireless, which would depopulate the earth in a short time, and it wouldn't cost more than $100 to make it." He also described his gasoline submarine, which, he insisted, "will work," despite the many criticisms which have been offered by the incredulous.

New York, Sept. 23.—Negotiations or conferences between the Anglo-French financial mission and American bankers over the proposed foreign loan are at a standstill. In their conference the two parties have reached a point where one of them must make a concession in principle. Undoubtedly, from everything that could be learned, Russia plays an important part in the present delay. Her participation in the bonds might affect the sale of them in this country.

ROOTS OUT CORNS BY PENETRATION

Dr. Hunt Finds the Quick, Clean, Painless, Effective Way. ONLY 10c.

Cutting a corn never cured it. Caustic liquids only invite blood poisoning, and stimulate further corn growth. Corn pads are bulky and squeeze the toes. Salves are greasy. But the one way that does cure corns of all kinds and sizes is the penetration way, discovered by Dr. Hunt, of Sidney, Ohio, a medical man who has spent a lifetime in the development of this new principle of curing corns by penetration.

Dr. Hunt's New Corn Cure comes in the form of clean, handy plaster. Six plasters in a box. Trim plaster size of corn and apply. Instantly the pain is eased. All you feel is the soothing effect. The plaster does not bulk up like clumsy pads.

Now see what happens: In two days the corn has become so thoroughly penetrated that it can be easily and quite painlessly lifted out, root, branch and all.

Remember, this principle is new. It is different from anything else offered as a permanent cure for stubborn corns. And a box full costs only ten cents. Money back if not delighted. Sold by druggists and shoe dealers everywhere. Or, send ten cents in stamps to American Chemical Company, Sidney, Ohio.

Large box containing 20 plasters, twenty-five cents.

Red Cross Ball Blue gives double value for your money, goes twice as far as any other. Don't put your money into any other.

City of Torreon Reported Facing a Famine.

APPEALS TO CARRANZA

Official Efforts Made in Behalf of American Abducted by Mexican Bandits—City of Chihuahua Now in Hands of Carranzistas—American Consul Fletcher En Route to the Border.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 23.—The city of Chihuahua, Villa's capital, has been captured by Carranzistas in a sweeping northward movement. Official dispatches told of the flight of Villa's main army to the northern border of Chihuahua state. The Villistas are reported retreating into Sonora to join General Maytorena's army.

A crisis is facing the people of Torreon. Some 25,000 men, women and children are without food. General Villa's forces before evacuating the place took with them all available food and cattle. Carranzistas have been urged to rush food out of Monterey and Saltillo for Torreon.

Carranzistas report that the Villa troops have destroyed the Mexican Central railroad north of Torreon as they retreated from Torreon. Villa is reported as due in Juarez momentarily to supervise the transshipping of his forces westward from the border city as they reach Juarez in their retreat.

American Consul Fletcher at Chihuahua City is reported en route to the border by automobile.

General Manuel Banda, superintendent of Villa's railway, has reached Juarez and taken charge of the train operations.

The wife of E. P. Fuller of Los Angeles, the ranchman kidnapped by bandits south of Juarez, is arranging to come to El Paso on the first train from Villa Ahumada, eighty-six miles south of the border. C. H. Fuller, brother of the kidnapped man, is en route here from Los Angeles. Consul George C. Carothers is probing the case.

DUMBA MAY NOT RECEIVE SAFE CONDUCT

Wilson, However, Will Await Word From Vienna.

FORMER ANXIOUS TO LEAVE

So informs the Acting Secretary of State, who confers with the President—Latter Considering the Cases of Von Papen, German Military Attache, and Austro-Hungarian Consul Nuber—Prompt Action Likely.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Until the Austro-Hungarian governments make a satisfactory response to the American note requesting the recall of its ambassador, Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the state department will ignore requests from the embassy for a safe conduct for the ambassador.

This was made clear here following the receipt of a message from the Austro-Hungarian embassy at Lenox, Mass., advising the department that Dr. Dumba planned to sail for home on Sept. 28 on leave of absence and requesting that a safe conduct for him be procured from the British and French governments.

Acting Secretary Polk conferred with President Wilson on the Dumba incident and other international questions. Later it became known that the United States would await formal word from the Austro-Hungarian foreign office before acting on Dr. Dumba's request.

A reply from Vienna is expected within the next few days to the note asking that Dr. Dumba be withdrawn from Washington in consequence of a letter he wrote to his foreign minister outlining plans for strikes in American munition plants.

Inasmuch as dispatches from Vienna have indicated that the government there already has chosen a temporary successor to Dr. Dumba, it is taken for granted here that no attempt will be made to send the latter back here whatever may be the manner of his going.

The president was still considering what action, if any, to take in regard to Captain Franz Von Papen, German military attache here; Alexander Nuber, Von Persek, Austro-Hungarian consul general in New York, and other Austro-Hungarian and German officials involved in the Dumba incident. Photographic copies of more of the letters taken from James F. J. Archibald in London will be awaited before final action will be taken.

SPECIAL SESSION

Washington, Sept. 23.—Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate, called at the White House to urge President Wilson to call a special session of the senate in October in order that the senate may be swept clear of executive business before congress convenes in December. The president told Mr. Stone that he had the matter under consideration, but he did not indicate what his decision would be. Officials believe that if a special session is called, it will be about Oct. 15.

It became known that Senator Kern is communicating with the Democratic members of the next senate in an effort to ascertain their judgment as to the wisdom of convening the senate. Supposedly the majority leader is making this inquiry at the request of the White House.

She reads newspaper—"Divorced to 13 a. m. Weds again 5 p. m." What do you think of that? He-it would take that long to get the license.—Judge.

NO STATEMENT FROM BRYAN

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Wilson and former Secretary Bryan met for the first time since the latter resigned from the cabinet three months ago. For nearly an hour the two were alone together in the green room of the White House and they parted smiling.

From the fact that Mr. Bryan is contemplating a trip to Europe in the interest of peace, and from the opposition he has already expressed to large expenditures for national defense, official Washington assumed that he had touched on both subjects in his conversation with the president. It is understood, however, that the president is not disposed to approve or disapprove the idea of the trip to Europe and that he has not yet formed his own conclusions as to the national defense program.

Mr. Bryan told friends later that he himself was undecided as to whether or not he would go to Europe, and that he had speaking engagements up to Nov. 1, so that it was unlikely he would reach a decision before then.

Later Henry Ford and Mr. Bryan conferred at the latter's home concerning the forwarding of the peace movement as against national preparedness.

OHIO WOMAN AMONG VICTIMS

New York, Sept. 23.—Seven persons were killed and between 85 and 100 others injured when a dynamite blast in a partly constructed section of the Seventh avenue subway caused an entire block of pavement to cave in, engulfing a crowded trolley car, a heavy truck and many pedestrians. # PROGRESSIVES HOLD MEETING

New York, Sept. 23.—Thirty-three Progressive leaders agreed with George W. Perkins at a banquet here that their party "should keep on, increase its enrollment and under no circumstances make any alliance or deal with the Republicans." They also listened to a national preparedness speech from Victor Murdock of Kansas, Progressive national chairman, who was applauded for saying "the man who is getting this matter into the imagination of the American people is the chief asset of the Progressive party—Theodore Roosevelt."

"The first duty of the nation, here and everywhere," said Mr. Murdock, "is to protect American life and property. I'm not blind to the pomp of war across the water, nor am I blind to the three million widows and orphans of the men who have died in the trenches, and I think it the duty of every man and woman in America to see that our country stays out of it. But they must also see to it that this nation is prepared, not to sue for the respect of other nations, but to compel it. I believe in instant preparedness."

OLD TOWN TOO SLOW---RUNS OFF WITH THE SHOW

The following article telling how a local youth ran away with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus Monday night, and was arrested and sent back to this city, is from Wednesday's Lancaster Eagle.

"A telegram to Chief of Police Henry J. Wallace, Tuesday, from Washington C. H. asked him to locate and arrest Homer Bethard, a 17 year old boy of that place who ran away from home Monday night, coming to Lancaster Tuesday morning with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

"The police had little trouble locating the boy at the show grounds where he was working with the canvas gang. He was locked up and held until Wednesday morning when he was placed aboard the 7:55 Pennsylvania train, his father having telegraphed money for a ticket and sent back to Washington.

"The young man said Washington was too slow for him, that he wanted to get out and see the world.

"Young Bethard said he had made no bargain with the show manager but he had been told that they would give him work and board and pay him off at the end of the season, but didn't say how much.

"He stated that he had made four previous attempts to run away from home but his father always located him and made him go back home, but he didn't think he would this time as he told him the last time he ran away that he would never go after him or send for him again and if he ever left home again "he could stay till he got his fill of it."

"The father evidently relented this decision and fearing harm might come to the lad went after him again and took him home."

BIG CIRCUS COMING THIS WAY SOON.

The Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will exhibit at Xenia on Thursday, September 30, and this good news is being heralded everywhere by the many agents of this, the biggest and foremost amusement institution in the world. The Barnum and Bailey Circus has always been the largest that travels and this season the management has found it necessary to add many more cars to their trains in order to provide for the great equipment. It requires 85 double length railroad cars to transport the big show, 1280 people are employed, there are 700 horses, 40 elephants and a menagerie of 110 cages, 480 world famed artists take part in the greatest circus program this world has ever known.

A fitting introduction to the wonderful performance this year, is the presentation of the new, magnificent spectacular pageant, "Lalla Rookh" in which nearly 1000 characters take part.

In the circus proper, which is presented in three rings, four stages, the hippodrome, and in the dome of the largest tent ever erected, 480 performers from every nation in the world take part and present a vast array of foreign features entirely new to America. A wonderful trained animal exhibition is given by the Marvelous War Elephants, Pallenberg's Wonder Bears, Madam Branna's Angel Horses, Thalero's Dogs, Ponies and Monkeys, and the Barnum and Bailey Statue Horses.

Great interest is already being shown in this neighborhood and great crowds will no doubt go to Xenia for the biggest and most enjoyable holiday of the year. Everyone is advised to get an early start in order to be there in time for the parade which starts promptly at 10 a. m. and which is said to eclipse anything of its kind ever before attempted in the history of circus business. adv.
